Volunteer Spotlight

Peter Beauvais

Peter was a new volunteer in the fall of 2023. He retired from Army & Air Force Exchange Services (AAFES) as an IT manager. He was aware of Habitat from other areas but only as a financial contributor.

He learned about volunteering on the job site through friend Richard Ferry who was at a party he attended. Peter asked more questions about how he could get involved. Richard said I will pick you up Saturday morning and he has been building since that day. He is learning so much and Roger Morgan has been such a great mentor. Such a great group of fun volunteers to work with. Peter enjoys working with his hands building furniture, etc. He enjoys running in his spare time.

Linda Eslick

I have been on the fringes of Habitat for Humanity for many years. I always admired the servant-hearted works at Habitat. They work tirelessly to find those in need, nurture them and then help them build a home. I knew I didn't have the ability to swing a hammer, but now I am thrilled to find something I can do! I am serving as the Wednesday "lunch lady", greeting and helping our many churches and groups who provide food for the volunteers.

Thank you to our lunch providers!

These organizations provide lunch to our volunteers every Wednesday and Saturday. They are every bit as important to Habitat as those driving nails, and we thank you immensely!
